ENTHUSIASTIC OVER VISIT. Prince Henry of Germany Studying Benton, M. E., Mo., 1731 Q st.
Benton, M. E., Mo., 1731 Q st.
Bingham, H. H., Pa., The Normandie.
Bishop, R. P., Mich., The Franklin.

A dispatch from Berlin yesterday says: Admiral Prince Henry of Prussia is maintaining unusual privacy at the Schloss and spending much of his time reading about the United States. He declines as many invitations as he can, his only engagement before his departure for Kiel being that to attend the dinner in his honor to be given January 31 by Count von Buelow, the imo meet well-informed Americans and to alk with them concerning the United States. An American to whom the prince has granted an audience today describes Prince Henry as pleasant-mannered. and systematically the emperor's brother is informing himself about America," said this American. "He looks forward to his trip with the keenest anticipation of enjoyment and instruction. I find him to be less interested in processions and external displays than in the men he expects to meet. He says he wants to meet American men, to talk with them and learn to understand America. Prince Henry added, in a tone of enthusiasm, 'It has been the dream of my life to visit the United States, and this trip comes now like a gift from The North German Lloyd steamer Kronpriz Wilhelm, which will carry Prince Henry to the United States, is being fitted out in the kaiser dock at Bremerhaven. The liner's machinery has been gone over with unusual care. The apartments set aside for the use of Prince Henry consist of a saloon bed room and bath room on the German secretary for the navy; Vice Admiral Seckendorff and Adjutant General von Plessen, who will accompany the prince, will occupy the other three luxurious suites of rooms. This arrangement is assumed to indicate that Prince Henry .will take his meals in the public dining room, as he has done upon previous voyages, when he showed himself to be a companionable traveler and fond of the smoking

The officers of the Kronprinz Wilhelm believe that their vessel will make the dock at New York on the morning of February 22.

KEEPING FRESH EGGS FRESH. Shell Treated, That Escape of Moisture is Prevented.

From the Lancet. On no subject, perhaps, is there a greater conflict of opinion than on the preservation of eggs. Some urge that the newly-laid egg should be kept dry and others that it should be kept moist or even immersed in a fluid. Of course, by effectually sealing the pores of a shell as with wax or grease the moment the egg is laid, no difference in weight by the loss of moisture can occur, and it is unlikely that anything can enter the egg from the outside. There is little doubt that the change from a fresh to a stale condition is partly a question of the loss of moisture and partly a disturbance of equilibrium by external agencies.

The method consists merely in greasing the eggs the moment they are laid and before they have cooled. This procedure is so successful that eggs, so treated are said to be as fresh to the taste when weeks and even months old as they are when eaten an hour after being laid. It is also suggested to immerse eggs in a strong solution of slicate of soda or water glass. In this case the preservative effect is probably due to the formation of a hard glassy silicate of lime within the substance of the shell, forming, so to speak, a perfectly air-tight envelope of glass. The egg is in a way hermetically sealed. This however, is no argument in favor of well storage, and even by the silicating process we imagine that the absolutely newly laid warm egg must be selected for the purpose. It is well known, further, that water glass possesses a powerful antiseptic action. Eggs treated in this way are said to preserve their fresh milky taste for six months and to be indistinguishable from the egg taken straight from the nest.

Eggs, of course, merely submerged in water would probably set stale more quickrium by external agencies.

Gooch, D. L. Gordon, R. Graff, J. V.,

Eggs, of course, merely submerged in water would probably get stale more quickly than when kept under dry conditions. The question of the effectual preservation of eggs is of the utmost importance and one which British producers have persistently ignored, an inexplicable attitude by which much valuable food is wasted and a source of profit throws away.

Hydrophobia in England. From American Medicine.

in Ireland is that concerning hydrophobia in England: "There is no hydrophobia in Great Britain." The authorities are proud to say it because the stringent rules of the board of agriculture, chiefly as regards muzzlirg, have aroused not a little opposition. The muzzling ordinances have been repealed, but importers of dogs and travelers with dogs will still have a hard time of it for a while. A six-months' quarantine of animals will be demanded after March 15, 1902, in order to be sure that the disease is not brought from foreign countries. The experience in this disease, not only of England, but of all countries, is another illustration of the fact that in the scientific prevention of disease medicine is more kind both to animals and mankind than their mistaken spokesmen, the antis.

South Carolina took in revolutionary history, with frequent comparisons between revolutionary and present Philippine conditions, throughout the afternoon Practice of Conquering Armies. Mr. Tillman declared it was the history of all conquering armies when prosecuting which is now being carried on by the British in South Africa that they committed cruelties and trampled upon all the obligations of humanity. "And I would ask the majority in this chamber," he said, "If in trying to force the Filipinos to accept our government without a promise they are not inviting the exasperation of the natives and a spirit such a struggle as the British pressed against the revolutionary colonists and ot perpetual insurrection." The effort to treat the Filipinos "as chattels-as cattle," he declared, was "damnable," and he charged the majority side able," and he charged the majority side with being the "real murderers of our troops in the Philippines."

"But," he asserted, shaking his finger at the republican side, "if we can gag you and force down your throats a scintilla or small dose of the principles which actuated the men of Massachusetts in 1776 we will have done our duty to the country and to humanity. The Sedition Laws in the Philippines.

Commenting upon the sedition laws promulgated by the Philippine commission, Mr. Tillman expressed doubt whether he would be allowed to go at large in the Philippines, if those laws were enforced. In this connection, he inquired of Mr. Hoar whether the Springfield Republican, which, he said, was opposed to the republican "imperialistic policy," would, under those laws, be permitted to be circulated in the Philippines.

"I decline," replied Mr. Hoar, "to be drawn into a discussion of Massachusetts newspapers."
"If I dip into that bucket for any more light," said Mr. Tillman, laughingly, "I'm afraid I'll not get it" "While I decline to enter upon any dis-cussion of Massachusetts newspapers," said Mr. Hoar, "I will say to the senator that if he wants to know my opinion of the commission's order, I will give it to him I think it is an abominable order." "In the absence of anything specific," Mr. Tillman replied, "we will take that end

In conclusion, Mr. Tillman said the pending Philippine tariff bill, as a proposition to erect a tariff wall between the United States and another part of the domestic territory, was a departure from every prin-ciple that had brought this country to the pinnacle of greatness and made it the cynosure of the eyes of the world as the land of the free and the home of the brave. The Senate, at 4:20, went into executive session, and, at 5 p.m., adjourned.

MAY LEAD TO TARIFF WAR. Amendment to Bill Adopted by the

A dispatch from Berlin yesterday says: The government was defeated today in the tariff committee of the reichstag by fifteen votes to ten on the amendment of Herr Gamp (conservative), requiring the production of certificates of origin of all according to the country where they are manufactured. Failing the production of certificates of origin, the duty shall be imposed, except in cases where no doubt exists that the goods were made in a country entitled to lower rates, in which case certificates may be dispensed with. The committee voted on this amend-ment immediately after Count Posadowsky-Wehner, the imperial secretary of state for the interior, speaking for the govern-ment, had said: "The federated government cannot accept any provision making certificates of origin an ordinary requirevoting so much time to discussing amendments that cannot become law."

The committee later adopted the first see "Dutiable goods from any country treating German ships and German goods less favorably than it treats those of other states may be subjected, besides the regular duty, to double rates or the full value of the goods. Goods not subject to duty can be taxed half their value." Count von Schwerin-Loewitz, conserva-tive, offered an amendment empowering the government to treat the goods im-ported from foreign conutries with the lations that such countries apply to Gerpermit of such action. Herr Beumer said that German duties, especially against the United States, were Baron Heyl Zu Herrnsheim, liberal, com plained of the heavy trade balance against Germany in the American trade. He said that German exports to the United States had remained stationary since 1893, while Germany's imports from that country had increased from 402,000,000 marks to 1,003,-

000,000 marks. He submitted comparative tables of the duties collected by Germany and the United States, purporting to show that American duties upon twenty-two staple lines range from 11 per cent on sole leather to 2,000 per cent on writing machines higher than the duties collected by Germany. Other examples cited by Baron Heyl Zu Herrns-heim were bicycles, on which, he said, the American duty was 380 per cent higher American duty was 380 per cent higher than that collected by Germany; sewing machines, on which the American duty was from 100 to 180 per cent higher; furniture, 250 per cent higher, and tobaccoleaf, 1,932 per cent higher. The speaker protested that he did not desire a tariff war.

"But" said Herr Cottain "the

"But," said Herr Gotheln, "these amend-ments provoke a tariff war. The increase in our imports from the United States is due to our demands for raw products, like copper, which our electrical industry requires."

The vote on Count von Schwerin-Loe witz's amendment was postponed.

INSURRECTION NEARLY OVER.

Outlook for Peace in the Philippines is Bright.

A dispatch from Manila yesterday says: The general outlook for pacification in the since the original outbreak of the Filipine insurrection than at the present time. The insurgents have been broken up into small bands, and are everywhere fleeing for shelter. They surrender daily, are captured, or are killed. The policy of reconcentration and the stern measure of closing the ports to commerce have accomplished everything expected of them. General Chaffee still hope that by the end of February the Island of Samar alone will remain not pacified.

Those provinces bordering on the provinces of Batangas and Laguna, in southern Luzon, have been patrolled by the native constabulary, who have done excellent work
